DISCLOSURES

Alpaca Securities LLC dba Alpaca Clearing (“Alpaca” or the “Firm”) is a broker-dealer registered with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission and a member of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. ("FINRA") and the Securities Investor Protection Corporation ("SIPC"). Alpaca is the clearing firm that carries your brokerage account, holds your cash and securities, and clears, settles, and processes transactions for your account.

For additional information about Alpaca Securities LLC, its services, and related disclosures, please visit Alpaca's Disclosures page at https://alpaca.markets/disclosures.

Your Alpaca account documents, including trade confirmations, account statements, and tax documents, can be accessed at https://documents.alpaca.markets/login.

If your account was introduced to Alpaca by another financial institution, that institution may provide customer-facing services and perform other responsibilities under its clearing arrangement with Alpaca.

Cash or securities due in connection with a transaction must be received by Alpaca or your introducing broker on or before the settlement date shown.

1. Transactions shown are subject to applicable law, SEC and FINRA rules, applicable exchange, market, and clearing-agency rules, and your customer agreement and other account documents.

2. Unless otherwise indicated on this confirmation, the transaction is treated as unsolicited.

3. Review this confirmation promptly. Notify Alpaca and, if applicable, your introducing broker in writing of any error or concern within five days after receipt. Failure to do so may constitute acceptance, except as otherwise provided by law or agreement.

4. You are responsible for monitoring and canceling open orders. Transactions resulting from an order that has not been canceled before execution will be posted to your account.

5. This transaction may have been executed in multiple lots and reported at an average price. Upon written request, and where required and available, Alpaca will provide additional execution details, including individual prices and times, the executing or contra party, and commissions, fees, or other remuneration. Information concerning callable or prepayable securities and the potential effect on yield is available upon request.

6. Payment for Order Flow and Order Routing. If Alpaca or your introducing broker receives payment for order flow or other remuneration in connection with routing your order, required information will be disclosed. Additional information regarding the source and nature of the remuneration is available upon written request.

7. Regulatory and Transaction Fees. Certain transactions may be subject to fees assessed by self-regulatory organizations, exchanges, clearing agencies, or governmental authorities. Alpaca may pass these fees through to your account in accordance with its fee schedule and applicable law.

8. Alpaca does not recommend whether to trade fractional shares or any particular security. Eligibility for fractional trading is not an endorsement or an indication of low risk. Fractional transactions may be executed on a principal or riskless-principal basis and are subject to applicable order-type and trading-hour restrictions.

9. Any credit rating or similar third-party information shown is subject to change and is obtained from sources Alpaca believes reliable; Alpaca does not guarantee its accuracy or completeness.

10. Securities purchased on margin and other securities held in a margin account may be pledged, repledged, hypothecated, or rehypothecated, separately or with securities of other customers, to the extent permitted by law and your customer agreement.

11. If securities borrowed to support a short position become unavailable or are recalled, Alpaca may close out or buy in affected positions. When allocation is necessary, Alpaca may use a fair and impartial method, including random selection, consistent with its procedures and applicable requirements.

12. Short Positions and Stock-Borrow Charges. A settled short position may incur a daily stock-borrow or short interest charge. Rates vary based on the security, borrow availability and demand, market conditions, and other factors; may include a markup; and may change without prior notice. Charges appear on your account statement. Easy-to-borrow securities may still incur charges. Please contact support@alpaca.markets for additional information.

13. Tax-Lot Relief Method. Alpaca uses First In, First Out (FIFO), the IRS default tax-lot relief method, to deplete tax lots on sales and for Form 1099-B reporting. Any average cost or average entry price shown on account statements or in your account information is provided for informational purposes only and may differ from the tax-lot method used for tax reporting.

14. Backup Withholding. If you do not provide a correct taxpayer identification number, or if the name and TIN on your account do not match IRS records, federal law may require Alpaca to withhold from certain reportable payments at the current statutory backup withholding rate (24%), including dividends, interest, and proceeds from securities sales. Additional IRS penalties may apply for failure to provide correct tax information. Consult your tax advisor.

15. Publicly Traded Partnerships. Certain transactions and distributions involving publicly traded partnership interests held by foreign persons may be subject to U.S. withholding and reporting, including under Internal Revenue Code Sections 1446(a) and 1446(f). A broker may be required to withhold 10% of the gross proceeds from sales of PTP interests and may be required to withhold on certain PTP distributions, subject to applicable exceptions and documentation. Withheld amounts are reported on Form 1042-S. For more information, visit Publicly traded partnership distributions | Internal Revenue Service. Alpaca does not provide tax advice; consult a qualified tax advisor.
